Update

Posted by admin - 2010/04/09 00:16

I spent several months working on the software upgrade and it's almost ready, I just have to find a nice template to replace the rather outdated design of this site, and we should be in business in a few weeks.

In the meantime, I just want to let everybody know that I will revitalize this forum and website as soon as I've got the upgrade in place, which includes a much improved forum.

I'm still playing a lot of table tennis and taking coaching lessons, so there's stuff I want to write about too!

Please keep your contributions coming, and I have to do the payouts for March soon...
